—The case of E. L. Kingsbury versus the electric railroad company was on trial in the common pleas court Saturday with Baldwin & Harrington for the plaintiff. The jury returned a verdict granting judgement to the amount prayed for.

—A 12-year-old youngster at Fostoria fought his teacher in school, when she attempted to punish him for an act of discourtesy. The chap used first a ball bat and then a knife. With assistance both weapons were taken from him and he was given a sound thrashing with the rubber tube. The boy's father complained to the superintendent but got no satisfaction. He should have received a thumping.

—Notwithstanding the fact that Scio oil is worth $1.23 per barrel, the boom which the village of Scio has experienced during the past four or five months, is practically dead and the boomers are getting out of town almost as fast as they went in. A gentleman who came from that field a day or two ago, stated that rigs were being shipped out of there at the rate of about three per day. One of the two daily newspapers has suspended and there are other indications that the Scio boom is practically over.—Tribune.

—Shoes differ as widely as chalk and cheese—the difference between solid leather and split leather; the honest sole and the sole made of damaged stock and covered with a thin fault hide; the shoe that fits and the shoe that has no fit to it; the real and the imitation; is the difference between our shoes and some others. We have none but the good.

—Tom Phalen, an employe at Fuller's dairy, was the victim of a very painful and unpleasant circumstance last evening. He was milking a cow and for some reason the bovine became vicious, kicked him in the stomach doubling him and landing him over in the vicinity of another cow that seemed to catch the spirit of the affair. Cow No. 2 didn't do a thing but step on him and hold him down. Every time Phalen would raise his head the animal let drive with air-splitting kicks that would really have done credit to the velocity of the pedal extremities of a mule. After some time he managed to make compromise with the cow and was allowed to go. He is very sore.—Tribune.

—The Citizens Banking company of Perrysburg, displays a very neat sign in their bank showing that they are protected by a policy in the Fidelity & Casualty Co., of New York. This refers to an insurance policy issued by the company to the bank, indemnifying it from loss that may be caused by a burglary or robbery of the bank, and secures the bank and its patrons from danger of loss from that source. The company issuing the policy pays the loss occasioned, and in addition to this money protection, the company has an efficient detective service which is at once put on the track of a criminal who interferes with any bank holding a policy and bringing the burglar or robber to bay and trial regardless of the time and effort required. Punishment is sure to overtake any person who attacks the bank in the way of burglary or robbery. The patrons of the bank can readily see the great merit of such protection.
